

ATLANTA HOMES

& LIFESTYLES

STYLE

(shops)

WRITTEN BY
MEG SPARWATH
PHOTOGRAPHED BY DAVID CHRISTENSEN

Spring FORWARD

Three new shops add a fresh perspective to Atlanta style

CERAMIC PIECES AT MARTY MASON COLLECTED
HOME ARE INSPIRED BY THOSE FROM MASON'S
GRANDMOTHER'S 1960S
CERAMIC STUDIO,
KAY'S MUD HUT.

SAVVY STYLE Marty Mason has demonstrated his uber savviness by opening a third location of the high-end consignment store, Savvy Snoot, in East Cobb's Merchant's Walk. The Marietta Savvy Snoot is adjacent to his latest brainchild, Marty

Mason Collected Home, which features the all-new Marty Mason collection. The collection is inspired by years of Savvy Snoot's designer vignettes that combine consignment and new furnishings from all styles and periods. "It's a new version of the

ess & fun

SH
CO
I

MARCH 2012
ATLANTAHOMESMAG.COM

$4.95US

STYLE (shops)

wildly popular consignment store,” says Mason. “The design work we’ve always done, with choice pieces available through the collection.” 1311 Johnson Ferry Rd., Marietta 30068. (404) 355-1399; savvysnoot.com

OLD & NEW Great minds think alike, proven by the proprietors of the recently opened Chovan Designs and Summer Loftin Antiques. But while Theresa Chovan and Summer Loftin have similar tastes in design, their specialties are different. Chovan’s experience lies in interior design and management (think Pierre Deux) while Loftin’s is more about antiques—importing them, finding them and selling them (think Scott Antique Market). “We work well together and have the right personality chemistry,” says Chovan of their smooth transition to business partners. “Plus, we balance each other out experience-wise.”

In addition to design services, customers will find a heavenly array of 18th- and left to right MARTY MASON COLLECTED HOME’S “MIX IT UP” MOTTO IS DEMONSTRATED IN THE SHOP’S LAYERED LOOK. IN ADDITION TO CLEVER ACCESSORIES AND STYLISH UPHOLSTERY, SAVVY SNOOT ALSO OFFERS AN ARRAY OF UNIQUE LIGHTING OPTIONS.

19th-century European pieces as well as Mid-Century Modern wares. Because items run the gamut from furniture and lamps to glassware and porce-